Further Information (see study regulations / “Prüfungsordnung”)

- In both special areas, Module A 5 can be replaced by a module from another course of study at the University of Bayreuth, preferably another master's program.
- In the special area “linguistics,” modules A 4 and C 3 can be substituted with linguistic modules from other master's programs at the University of Bayreuth.
- Upon request, students can replace some (or all) of the modules in area B with graded credit work in (and of) the other modules.

Types of Classes

Hauptseminar (HS) = Advanced Seminar, type 1

This type of seminar engages with its topics at an advanced level. It is characterized by a considerable reading load. The general class format consists of weekly discussions; discussion topics have to be prepared in advance.

Oberseminar (OS) = Advanced Seminar, type 2

This type of seminar engages with its topics at an advanced level. It usually has a specific theoretical focus and is characterized by a considerable reading load. The general class format consists of weekly discussions; discussion topics have to be prepared in advance. Advanced seminars, type 2 are offered only in module areas D (module D 2) and E (module E 1).

Proseminar (PS)

This type of seminar engages with its topics at the undergraduate level. Its topics have an introductory character. The class format consists of weekly discussions; discussion topics have to be prepared in advance. A proseminar can replace an advanced seminar (type 1) only for filling one of the elective modules (modules A 4 and C 3).

Übung

This is the type of class offered by the Language Center (for MAIAS, module A 3 "Style & Register" and the language classes in module area B). "Übung" literally means "exercise."

Vorlesung (V)

This type of class consists of a series of lectures. A Vorlesung can only be chosen for module A 5. It is, however, often possible to audit this type of class (> no credit points).
